Instructions:

Please read the following tutorial to the playtesters. The game should be played with four people that haven't played it before, but if that is not possible have veteran players on opposing teams. If people would like to play this game more than once, please have them switch roles.

Take note of any feedback or questions you get.

Tutorial:

Thanks for playing Spaced Out! This is a 2v2 space racing game in which your goal is to fly through floating green rings and avoid asteroids on your way to Earth. Each team consists of a pilot and an engineer. The pilot navigates the ship and can also shoot incoming asteroids and the opposite team. The engineer is responsible for fixing ship components that would otherwise deter you from winning the race.

While you play, please don't hesitate to ask questions or provide feedback.
